KEEPING YOU UPDATED WITH YARD LIFE

Week 2 - Lockdown

With us all missing life together with our horses - here is a little run down of this weeks events

The second week up for us at ARC, although it feels like months away from our babies 🥹. We are looking forward to getting back there as soon as possible. New progress: exercise plans & routines are underway, we are working behind the scenes to produce our initiatives, and the girls are keeping us entertained with TikToks! The future and happiness of ARC is underway.... andwe are slowly drying out from the rain. 🙏

Red safeguarding!

FRIDAY

Rescue Mission - no longer lunch for a big snake!

TUESDAY

Calypso & GT united together against the wrath of miny midget!

THURSDAY

All in to lend a hand - or hoof!

In more detail!

A week in the life of ARC

Thursday - Paddock day for the girls; digging trenches to prevent flooding and ensuring our babies are dry under their rugs. The horses lending their hooves to help muck out.

Friday - Our residential snake has been getting bigger of the last couple of months, having regularly seen sheds of its skin 🐍. When a young bird was seen hopping around the stable - the snake started diving down the wall with the idea of 'lunch' on his mind! Quick!...To the rescue! - little bird now is safely on the tree outside. She made a particularly lucky escape!

Saturday - with dry weather - 14 more horses exercised.

Sunday - The clocks have moved forward and we restructured the working days and times. Now with the weekends off, the girls took the opportunity to practice photoshoots. Something we are hoping to offer all clients in the future.

Monday - rained off again - a special delivery to Karen who had sadly forgotten the smell of her pony - I suggested the girls deliver one of gabby used saddle cloths to her door - we made her one happy lady! (...We hope these were tears of joy!)

Tuesday - 18 horses exercised today! Crikey these girls are on fire! Note: Aruba and GT made it quite clear that they are not friends - 😊

Wednesday - A paddock day and observing pony behaviour. Calypso and GT are learning to stand up to Midget to save their meals! - together they stand united!

Thursday - Thursday Fun Day - Lots of Tik Toks coming through our owners chat to keep us in high spirits. Red debuts his safeguarding practice and I can see great potential for a movie career!
